

Brand New Page

What are you hoping for
What are you waiting for
Look past the leaden skies
At what heaven has in store
For surely the time has come
Surely the day is near
When heaven and earth collide
And seasons of change are here

See how a plan was made
Before even time was formed
Ancients had prophesied
This baby that would be born
The future that seemed so dark
Has taken a different hue
As cries from a manger bed
Throw light on a sacred view

*Timeless moments seep into our consciousness
Motes of starlight shining through the gloom
Awakening souls who've watched and waited far too long
Determined now to see what heaven would do*

It seemed such a docile scene
Easy to be ignored
But angels were looking on
And love made an open door
To show us what could be done
In hearts across every age
What's possible is unbound
We've started a brand new page.
