

Everything (Two Worlds Kissed)

Everything that you might be
Every choice you step between
Hopes and dreams will fill your soul
You're such a beautiful baby
Every breath your lungs enjoy,
Working, resting, play and more
You keep a little part of me
You know I keep a part of you here
And oh, you have your father's eyes
And oh, your touch will bring a thousand smiles for
There's a reason you've been born
This is going to be your time
I knew it when I held you close
For then it seemed like two worlds kissed

I would like the world to see,
The future possibilities
How you could be the perfect gift
For all the low and needy
I shall take this tiny hand
Cradle you within my arms
And wait until you reach the day
When you can show me your heart
And oh – You have your father's smile
And oh – I'll walk with you a thousand miles so
One day I'll look back on now,
This holy moment in my life,
Heaven and earth they feel so close
You know it seems like two worlds kissed

Hush now, and hear the Angels singing
Oh They're lighting up the skies
And Oh, I feel their joy and laughter
And peace that makes my spirit fly.

I'm so glad that you are here
I welcome you with all my heart
I'm lucky you have chosen me
To carry you, beloved
This is how your life begins
Here among the least of things
Know that I will understand
And come to help when you need me
And oh, you have your father's grace
And oh, I'll memorise your precious face for Every time I speak your name
Every time I hear you cry
Every time I hold you close
You know, I think that two worlds kissed.
